Jessica works with developers and purchasers, matching beautiful new Norfolk homes to the right buyers, from design and construction to handing over keys.

Whether relocating, retiring or seeking a family home, Jessica helps purchasers find their dream property to suit their unique lifestyles, be that accommodating a home office with picturesque views across the Broads, excellent energy efficiency ratings, or a large garden for the Labrador.

Many of the homes Jessica offers are in beautiful village locations on the fringes of Norwich, with traditional designs sympathetic to the surrounding landscape, and a welcoming sense of community.

With houses and bungalows increasingly being sold off-plan, Jessica is only too aware of homebuyers' common anxieties and offers knowledgeable reassurance on queries from timescales of the build, to mortgages, conveyancing, and fixtures and fittings. She closely guides purchasers through the entire homebuying process to completion, ensuring they're happily settled in.

Having grown up in Norfolk, Jessica understands the market and its local nuances, but she also holds a diverse, multi-skilled track record having worked with urban developers in London for four years, visiting sites and advising on the purchase of numerous developments and their potential returns.
